

Message from Cambodia Chef Association President!!!!

The world is changing and so must we???

It is amazing to see the speed at which our world is change day to day. We are all want to insist on these changes but they will happen with or without us. The question is: Are we ready to be part of this change and try to have influence on it for the better of our future?

One thing we have learned is that we need to be open-minded and think outside of the box. If we don't, we soon become a cranky old person who sees only the negative side of things when all the new things are happening.

We must be open not only to different ideas and opinions and things happening around us but also in the small things that happen in our daily life. We try to apply this idea when we deal with the daily tasks of CCA up to now we have about 75 chef members from difference hotel and restaurant in Cambodia.

We are proud to have set up one of the most important programs in CCA history – the Recognition of Culinary in Cambodia from Ministry of Interior and Ministry of Tourism, as well as the International competition for Individuals in our profession, which covers all levels.

As chefs we know that this is something the chef profession really needs and that this step will serve both the chefs and the industry worldwide. Although we have encountered resistance and challenges on our right to certify chefs, these only reinforce our resolve to make this happen. Along with City and Guilds, one the biggest challenge is, with three international food competitions for last 9 month since we start our CCA.

It has been a long journey but we are very proud that CCA can now offer any chef from nations around our country the opportunity to become a really challenge to compete with oversea chef.

Are you ready to be part of this change?, Do you have constructive comments and opinions and want to have an influence for the future of CCA? We are ready and we hope to have your support to make the changes for our Cambodian Chef's profession careers and future.

We especially ready to listen to your opinions and comments. After all, this organization belongs to you, the members, so take the opportunity to take part of this challenge!

Once again we need all your support from any kind of organization to make this happen to our young generation progress, and to match with our country policies win win as value advice from our Leading Royal Government.

Instead of Complaining do it and must start from us, don't get left behind.
